

LN905 Pre-sessional Course

Academic Interaction

THE LONDON SCHOOL
OF ECONOMICS AND POLITICAL SCIENCE ■

Reminder

Your tutor may take a moment to remind you of their feedback from last week - you should also consider your own group and individual reflections.

Your aim today is to make progress and improve as a class, a group and an individual. This is the final class, so give it your best!

Have a good discussion!

You now have 30 Mins to Discuss

Group Reflection

As a group, discuss:

- How was your interaction overall? Were you pleased with it? Why/why not?
- How was it compared to last week?
- Were there any silences/gaps? How did you deal with them?
- What else went well, and what else went wrong?
- Do you feel that you made progress as a group/class?

Self Reflection

- Were you happy with your contribution?
- Were you able to speak as much as others?
- If you spoke more than others, did you speak too much? How could you encourage others to contribute?
- If you didn't speak much, can you think of a way to add more next time?
- Do you feel you have improved since last week? In what way?
- Did you enjoy your role this week, or prefer last week's?
- Looking back over the past 4 weeks, do you feel more confident about speaking in a seminar?

Final Feedback

Now that you have group and self-reflected on your interaction, your teacher will provide feedback to the class about your groups. Pay attention and take some notes if needed!

Class Reflection

As a class, please offer your thoughts about the following points.

- After the past 4 weeks, do you feel more confident with speaking in a seminar? If yes, why? If no, why not?
- What differences do you imagine there are between these classes and a seminar in September?
- Considering this, how can you prepare for your course seminars?
- Has approaching texts through various roles given you ideas about different valuable contributions you could make?
- Has the necessity of maintaining a discussion given you ideas about how you can contribute in a seminar?
- Do you have any concerns about future seminar speaking? Share them & discuss possible solutions.

Speaking Exam Preparation

In the speaking exam, we will not try and trick you, or ask you anything we haven't discussed on the course.

This said, you have been very busy and had a lot of input, so you may not remember earlier weeks well.

In small groups, quickly review the topics you've covered over the course, and what the focus of the weeks was. Can you list potential exam questions relating to Social Media, Gender, Demographics or Climate Change?
