

Feedback for Practice Paper B – Reading into Writing

Discuss how you approached the task e.g.

- a) How much time did you spend reading the extracts?
- b) How much time did you spend planning the essay?
- c) How much time did you spend writing the essay?
- d) How much time did you spend proofreading?
- e) Were you happy with your time management? If not, what could you do differently?

The marking criteria are on Moodle.

WRITING – to get top marks (80 or above) an essay:

- Fulfils all task requirements and presents an excellent response to the essay question.
- Sequences information and ideas very logically and effectively with very clear progression, an extensive range of cohesive devices and highly effective paragraphing.
- Uses a wide range of stylistically appropriate grammar and vocabulary to convey precise meanings flexibly and fluently.
- The majority of sentences are error free and any errors which do occur are minor and do not impede communication or create difficulty for the reader.

READING – to get top marks (80 or above) an essay:

- Makes excellent use of the texts to support argument / points.
- Is highly successful at adapting the content of texts to suit the purpose of writing.
- Is highly successful at identifying common themes and links within and across the multiple texts.
- Demonstrates excellent quotation, paraphrasing, summarising skills.

For more detail, look at the check list on the next page.

READING OVERVIEW

Does the extract...	Sleek (2013)	Goodwin (2012)	Hertwig & Grüne-Yanoff (2019)
Define nudge?
Give examples of nudge?
Mention advantages of nudge?
Mention disadvantages of nudge?
Put forward an opinion about nudge?

CHECK LIST

Your essay should:	Did you do this?
1. Have an introduction.
2. Have a conclusion.
3. Be divided into paragraphs.
4. Have a thesis statement in the introduction which answers the question "Should governments use nudge?"
5. Repeat the thesis statement in the conclusion which answers the question "Should governments use nudge?"
6. Have topic sentences which identify the theme of each paragraph and link back to the essay question.
7. Have concluding sentences (where appropriate) to summarise the main argument of paragraphs and link back to the essay question.
8. Refer Sleek (2013)
9. Refer to Goodwin (2012)
Your essay should be:	Did you do this?

10. Refer to Hertwig & Grüne-Yanoff (2019)
11. Show connections between
12. Cite the extracts accurately.
13. Contain a definition/description of 'nudge'.
14. Give examples of nudge (based on the extracts).
15. Identify 2-3 advantages of nudge (based on the extracts).
16. Identify 2-3 disadvantages of nudge (based on the extracts).
17. Use a range of cohesive devices.
18. 'Hedge' claims where appropriate.
19. Be clear and easy to read (ask a classmate to help you answer whether you have done this.
20. Be around 600 words or more.

REFLECTION & SELF ASSESSEMENT

A. Using the marking criteria, how would you grade your essay for reading and writing?

READING	WRITING

B. Look at the 'Reading into Writing' essays you have written over the last five weeks:

- What have you learned?
- How, if at all, have you changed?
- What areas do you still need to work on?

C: How are you going to approach the 'Reading into Writing' task next week?