Arrangements for Final Assessment

- Monday 31st August – Bank Holiday
- Tuesday 1st September – Paper C
- Wednesday 2nd September – Papers A & B

Unconditional offers

- If you are lucky enough to have an unconditional offer, you do not need to do Papers A, B and C next week.
- If you have an unconditional offer, and do not plan to do the speaking assessment, please email me by 4pm on Wednesday 26 August so that I do not include you in the schedule.

Paper C – Tuesday 1st September

- Rooms and times will be available on Moodle by 2pm on Friday 28 August.
- If you would like a particular time-slot, please email me with a reason why: A.Standring@lse.ac.uk by 4pm on Wednesday 26 August.
- If you have an unconditional offer, and do not plan to do the speaking assessment, please email me by 4pm on Wednesday 26 August.

Papers A & B – Wednesday 2nd September

Rooms will be on Moodle by 2 pm on Friday 28 August

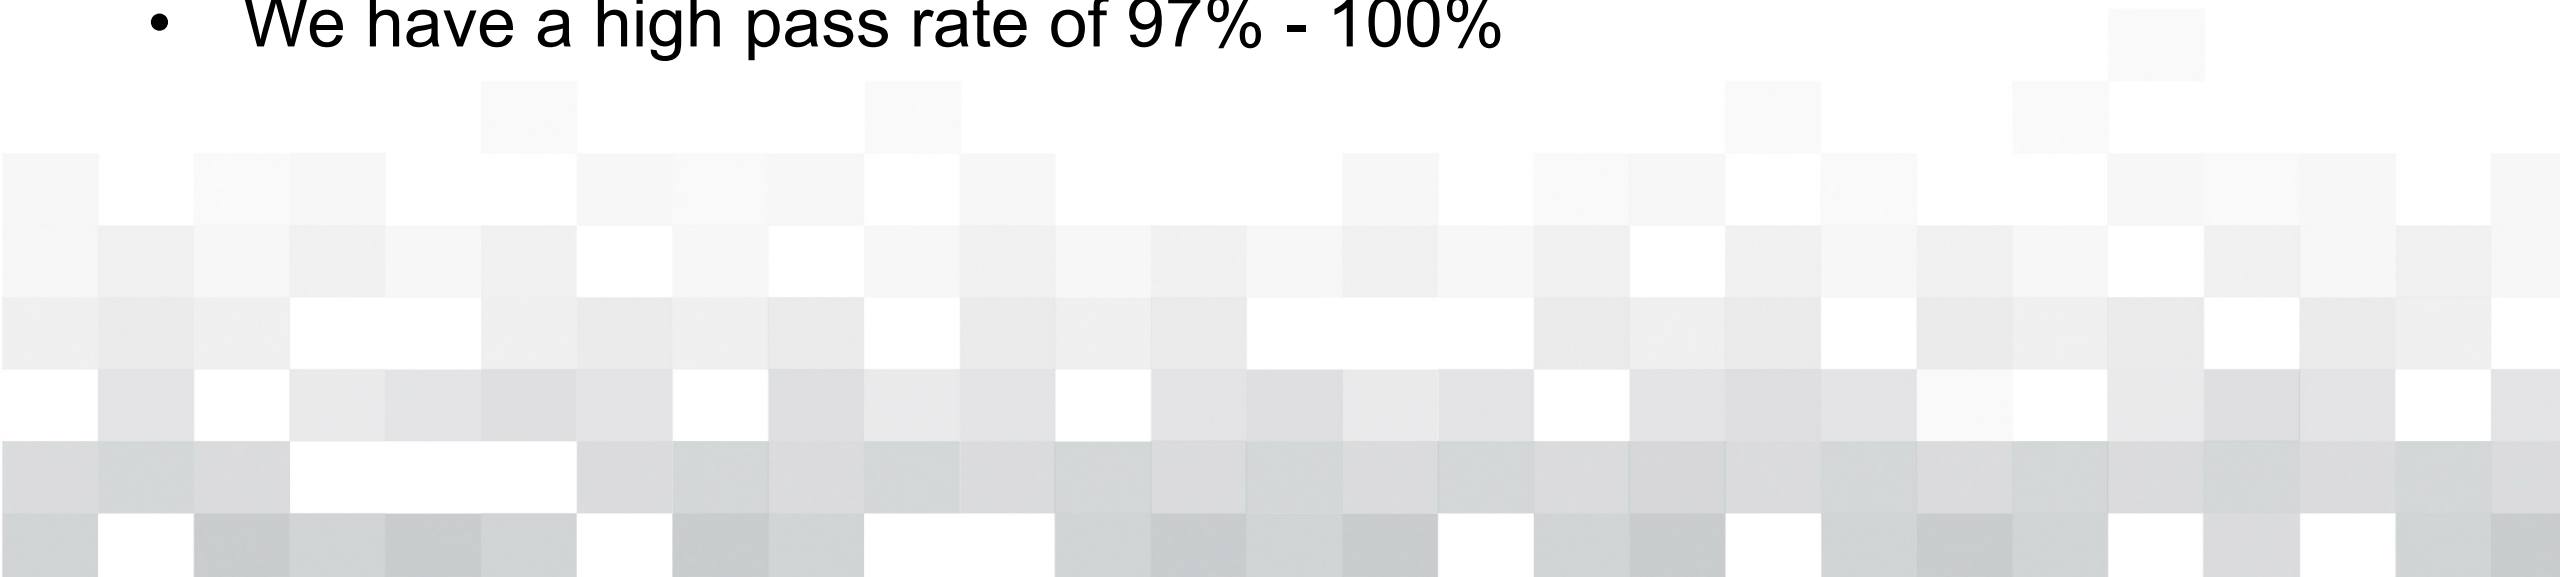

- Paper A 10:00 – 11:30
- Paper B 12:30 – 14:30

Results

- You will receive a results email after 3pm on Tuesday 8th September 2026.
- At this time, we will also send results to LSE Admissions.
- If you need your results earlier, please email me to explain why. In exceptional circumstances, we might be able to expedite the marking (A.Standring@lse.ac.uk)

- Any assessments which do not meet entry requirements are reviewed by at least two teachers plus the course coordinator.
- Once marks are finalised, assessments will not be remarked.
- We have a high pass rate of 97% - 100%

Exceptional Circumstances

The School has a “fit to sit” policy that applies to all students. If you submit an assessment, or sit an exam, the School considers you have declared yourself well enough to do so.

If you experience disruption to your studies prior to the assessment (e.g. due to personal difficulties, crime, bereavement, illness etc.), you must let us know asap.

Paper C: Speaking & Listening Assessment

THE LONDON SCHOOL
OF ECONOMICS AND
POLITICAL SCIENCE ■

Speaking & Listening Assessment

You will be marked for:

- Speaking (60 out of 90 marks)
- Listening (30 out of 90 marks)

Your speaking marks will be based on...

- Fluency & clarity: you speak clearly and fluently – you are easy to understand
- Accuracy: you make few errors in grammar, vocabulary and pronunciation
- Structure: your ideas are clearly and logically structured
- Impact: you would be able to make a positive contribution to discussions at LSE

Your listening marks will be based on...

- Comprehension: you understand questions, as demonstrated by effective responses, asking for clarification if necessary
- Interaction: you respond effectively to the contributions of others, highlighting points of agreement/disagreement constructively, turn-taking and asking for clarification where necessary

Structure

The assessment is divided into three parts:

1. General Questions
2. 2-minute Presentations
3. Discussion

- You will be in groups of 2-3 (with 3 being the norm).
- There will be 2 teachers. One teacher will ask questions. The other teacher will listen.
- The interviews will be video recorded.

Part One: General Questions

- Tests: the use of language for social purposes such as making introductions, answering questions, and giving opinions.
- Time: around 5 minutes (less for groups of 2).

Part One: General Questions

The interview will begin with the teacher saying something like:

- Hello. My name is and this is my colleague
- And your names are?
- Could you confirm your LSE ID number please?
- First of all we'd like you to tell us about yourselves.

Part One: General Questions

The examiner will then ask each student around three questions.
For example:

- Why did you apply to study at LSE?
- What are some of the main differences you have noticed between your own country and the UK?
- What do you hope to do after completing your MSc?

Part One: General Questions

Do not answer questions with just the bare minimum of information e.g.

Q: Which place would you recommend a visitor to your country visit?

A: London.

Part One: General Questions

Expand a little e.g.

Q: Which place would you recommend a visitor to your country visit?

A: If someone comes to the UK they'll obviously want to spend time in London but I'd also recommend visiting Edinburgh. It's the capital of Scotland and is full of cultural places of interest. For example, there's a castle, a medieval Old Town and you can climb Arthur's seat which is an extinct volcano.

Part One: General Questions

Don't speak for too long though. You are not being asked to give a speech!

On average, answers should last 20-30 seconds.

Part Two: Long-Turn

- Tests: ability to speak at length coherently, use language to develop a topic, describe, compare and contrast, hypothesise and comment.
- Time: around 7-8 minutes (less for groups of 2).

Part Two: Long-Turn

At this stage of the interview the examiner will say something on the lines of:

- Now in this part of the test you're each going to talk on your own for about 2 minutes. You need to listen while your partner is speaking because you'll be asked to comment afterwards.
- (Student A) I'm going to show you a card with a question written on it and I'd like you to tell us what you think.
- All right? Here is your card. Remember (Student A) you have about 2 minutes to talk before we join in.

Part Two: Long-Turn

- At the end of each long turn the examiner will ask the other students a question such as: 'What do you think?' or 'Do you agree?'
- You should give a BRIEF response to this question. As in Part One, your answer should be longer than 1-2 words but it should not last for much longer than 15-20 seconds.
- After Student A has finished, the same process is repeated for Students B and C.

Part Three: Discussion

- Tests: the ability to express opinions and make arguments, to speak persuasively, to agree/disagree appropriately, to interact with others.
- Time: 7-8 minutes.

Part Three: Discussion

The examiner will start the discussion stage by saying something like:

Now to finish the test we would like you to discuss some questions about gender.

Part Three: Discussion

- You should all contribute to the discussion.
- You will get marks for expressing your views clearly and coherently.
- You will also get marks for interaction with the other students, so it is important to include them and to respond to what they say.
- Make sure your voice is heard but also make sure you do not dominate the discussion.
- On average, your responses to the questions should be 30-60 seconds long.

INSTALLING DIGIEXAM

myapps.microsoft.com

1) Visit MyApps.

You may need to complete Multi-Factor Authentication (MFA).

2) Click on the LSE e-Exams /Digiexam icon.

3) Log on using single sign-in and LSE credentials.

4) On the webpage that appears, click on the link on the word here in the top right of the screen.

Start new exam

To start a new exam, open the Digiexam app on your computer. You can download and install the app here.

Open Digiexam app

5) Select the relevant download option for your device.

6) Follow the instructions that appear to download Digiexam.

7) Wait for Digiexam to fully download and install.

8) Once downloaded, do not try to log on through this screen that appears.

You have successfully downloaded Digiexam!

Setting up your account and downloading the app to your device is an essential step before entering an LSE exam room. You will not be given additional time or support to set up the app in an exam room.

3 step access to your Digixam account

1) Go to the MyApps webpage and click on the Digixam icon. The Digixam webpage will open.

★ Save this webpage as a bookmark.

2) Click on Open Digixam app in the top right corner of the webpage.

Open New Digixam app

3) The Digixam app will open, and you will be logged in automatically.

The screenshot displays the Digixam app interface with three main sections: 'Find exam', 'Exams', and 'Exam details'. The 'Find exam' section includes an 'Exam ID' input field and a 'Find exam' button. Below this is a 'Start exam from USB' section with instructions to insert a USB drive and a 'Select offline exam file...' button. The 'Exams' section features an 'Active exams' area with a refresh icon and a 'Demo exam' section with a description and a 'Demo Exam' button. The 'Exam details' section shows a 'Practice Exam' card with fields for 'Created by', 'Organization', 'Lockdown mode', and 'Status'.

Paper A: Listening into Writing

THE LONDON SCHOOL
OF ECONOMICS AND
POLITICAL SCIENCE ■

Listening into Writing

- You will hear a short lecture (20-25 minutes)
- You have to write a 200 – 400-word summary of the lecture

Listening into Writing

You will be marked for:

- Listening (60 marks out of 90)
- Writing (10 marks out of 90)

Listening marks are based on...

- Accuracy: your summary reports the lecture accurately
- Paraphrasing: you put the content from the lecture into your own words
- Length: your summary is an appropriate length
- Content: you cover the key points
- Focus: you use an appropriate level of depth/detail (not too much & not too little!)

Writing marks are based on...

- Range: you use a good range of grammar & vocabulary
- Accuracy: you make few language errors
- Style: you use an appropriate language style
- Criticality: you include supported critical comments
- Structure: your summary is clearly and logically structured

Guidelines for writing a critical summary of a lecture:

- Identify the lecturer's main argument, purpose, or key message.
- Summarise the most important points and supporting evidence.
- Use your own words and avoid copying phrases or sentences from the lecture.
- Include a balanced evaluation of the lecture's ideas, evidence, and reasoning.
- Support your evaluation with clear reasons and examples from the lecture.

Your critical summary should include:

An introduction

- Introduce the lecturer and the lecture topic.
- Briefly explain the focus or purpose of the lecture.
- End the introduction with a statement outlining the lecturer's main argument or message.

The main body

- Summarise the key points in a logical order.
- Include the most important examples, evidence, or explanations used by the lecturer.
- Explain how the points support the lecturer's overall argument.
- Evaluate the strengths and limitations of the ideas, evidence, or reasoning where appropriate.
- Do not try to report every detail from the lecture.
- Use your own words throughout.
- Use linking words and phrases to connect ideas and show relationships between them.

A conclusion

- Restate the lecturer's main argument or message.
- Provide an overall evaluation of the lecture's effectiveness, persuasiveness, or relevance.
- Comment briefly on any important strengths, limitations, assumptions, or unanswered questions.
- Signpost the conclusion with phrases such as In conclusion, To conclude, or To sum up.

Paper B: Reading into Writing

THE LONDON SCHOOL
OF ECONOMICS AND
POLITICAL SCIENCE ■

Reading into Writing

In Paper B you will have to write a short essay using texts that you will be given.

You will be marked on:

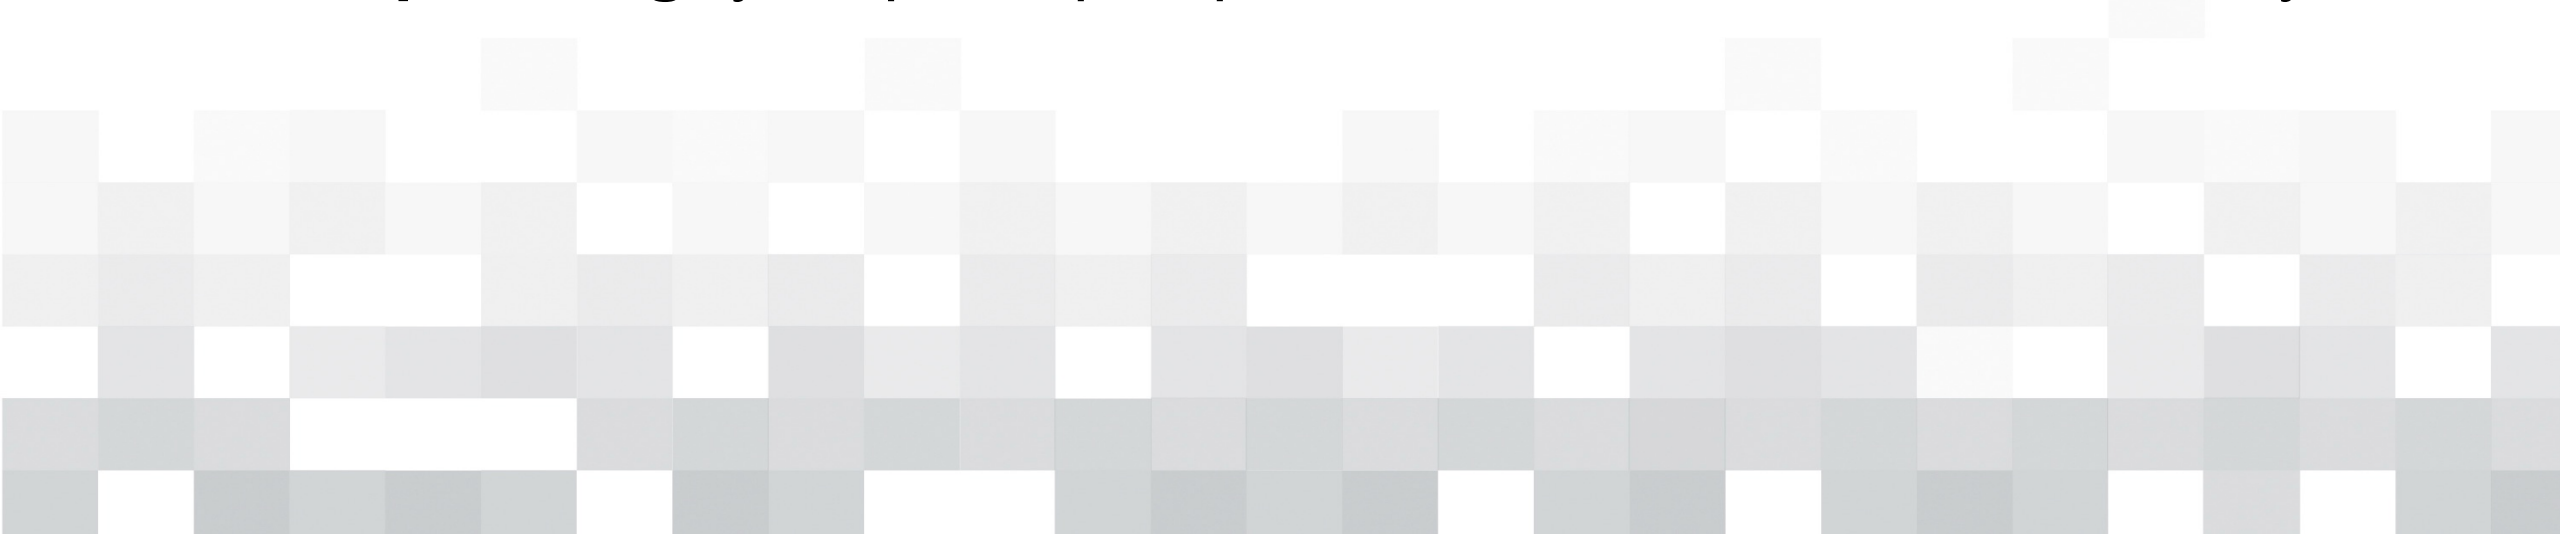

- Reading
- Writing

Reading marks are based on...

- Text Use: you use information from all of the texts to support your arguments/points
- Synthesis: you integrate the texts successfully into your writing
- Selection: you select common themes and links within and across multiple texts
- Paraphrasing: you quote, paraphrase and summarise successfully

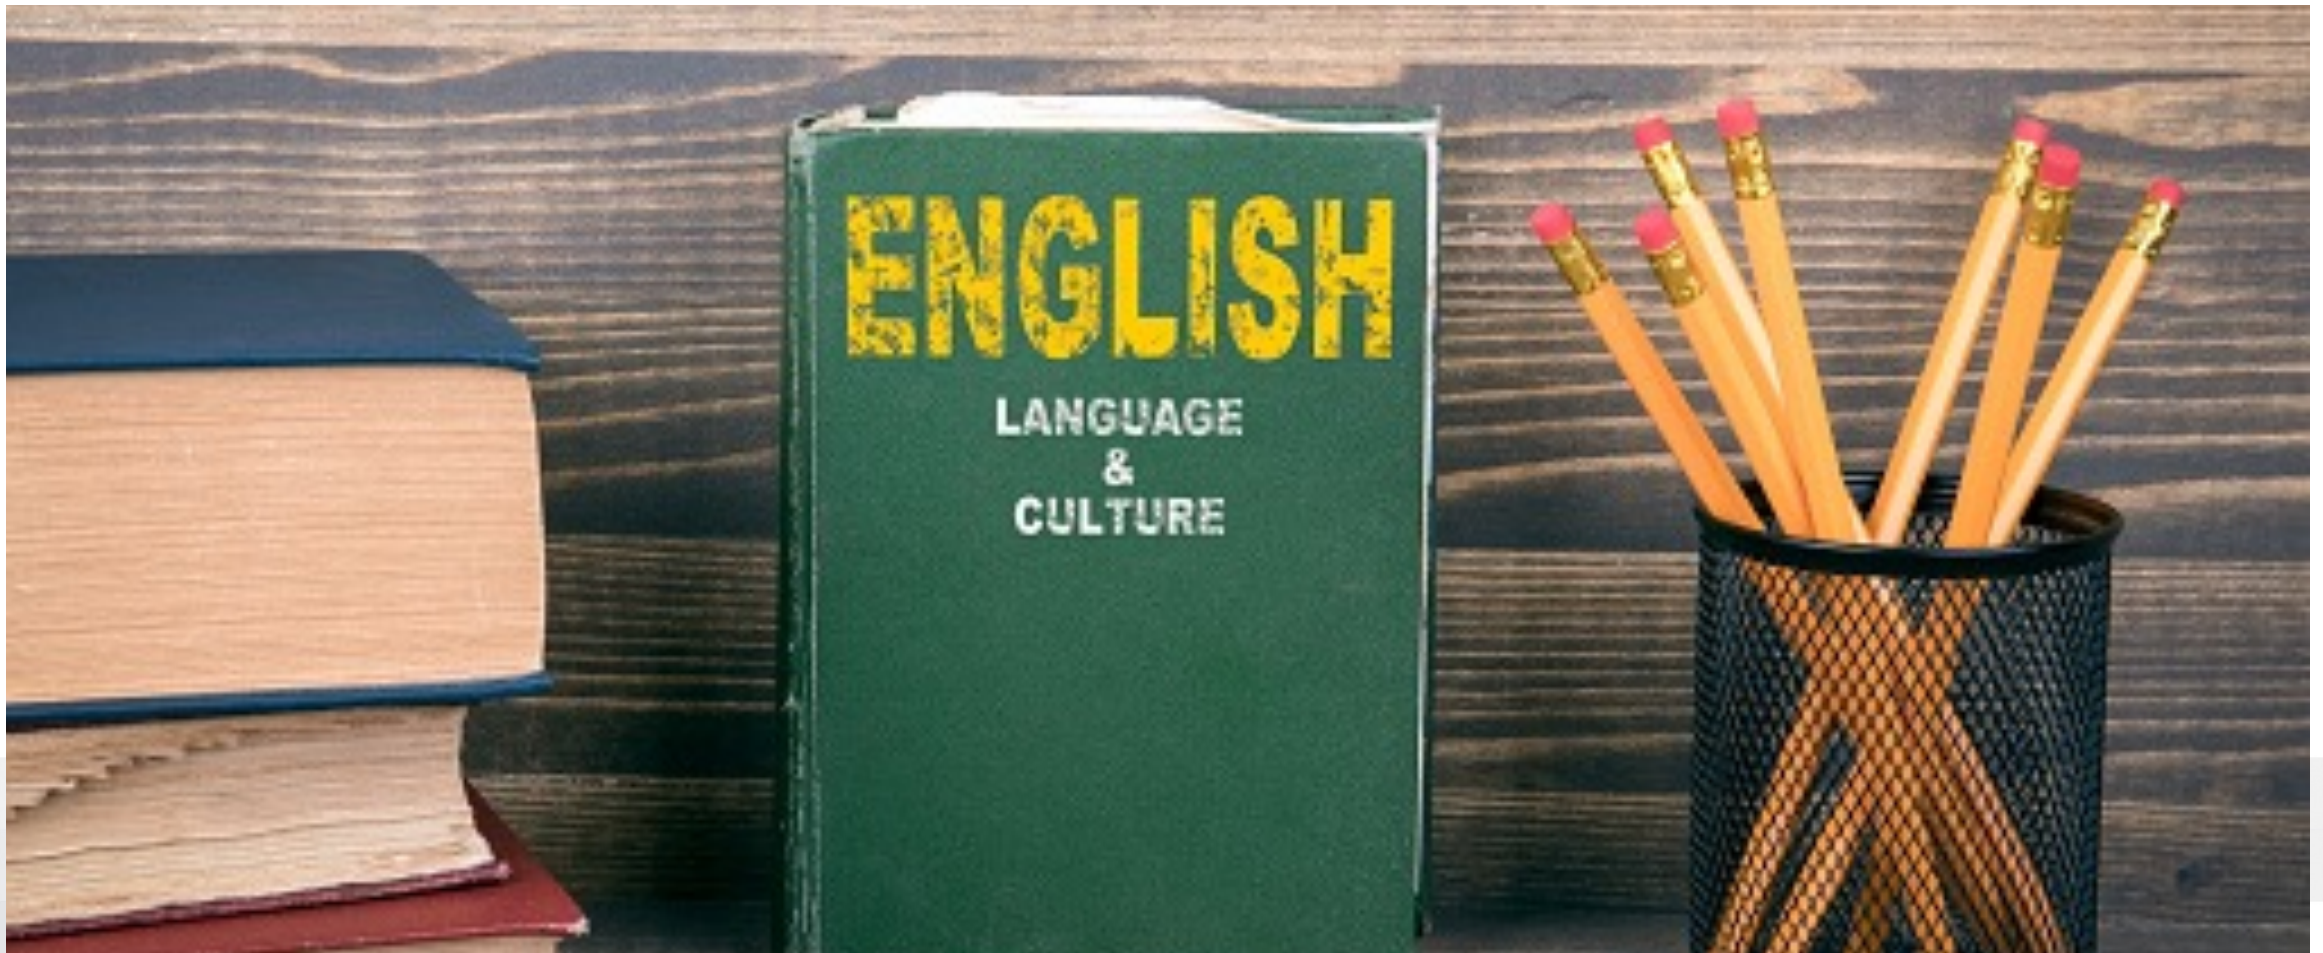

Writing marks are based on...

- Task Fulfilment: you answer the essay question and fulfil task requirements
- Structure: your essay is clearly and logically structured
- Language Style & Range: you use a good range of grammar and vocabulary in an appropriate style
- Language Accuracy: you have a good level of lexical and grammatical accuracy
